2¢ for your Rice Bowl

Instead of purchasing “Little Black Books” for Lent this year, Campus Ministry has decided to offer on-line resources for your Lenten spiritual reflection, available at udayton.edu/ministry. Part of the money saved by not purchasing the Black Books will be donated to Operation Rice Bowl.

SPOTLIGHT ON...

LENT

Render your hearts, not your garments. We hear this passage from the prophet Joel each Ash Wednesday as part of the Lenten call to conversion. But what does it mean to “rend” one’s heart, and how can it help direct our Lenten observance?

It helps to remember Lent’s original purpose as a period of preparation for those to be Baptized at Easter. Eventually it became a season for all Christians to renew the life-directing promises of our Baptism, and to repent for the ways in which we have not fulfilled them. Lent was never about depriving oneself of a favorite food or habit for the sake of self-imposed irritation or to impress others with displays of will-power. Rather, as Bro. John M. Samaha, S.M. puts it, “Lent is a reminder of our baptismal consecration to lives as other Christs in our circumstances.”

In this light we see the traditional Lenten practices of prayer, fasting and almsgiving are meant to rend our hearts, tearing away the selfishness and fear of our human condition, healing it with the balm of Christ, through whom our salvation is realized. Through this rending and Christ’s re-making, we become Christ to the world.

This Lent, Campus Ministry encourages UD to consider the reality of hunger in our world. Upcoming events on campus and even certain elements of the liturgy will point to the reality of world hunger. And Campus Ministry strongly encourages participation in Catholic Relief Services’ Operation Rice Bowl as a means of praying for, learning about and making sacrifices to alleviate hunger in our global and local communities. In doing so we seek to rend our hearts, and not just our garments, and be transformed to live “as other Christs in our circumstances.”

Reminder: Ash Wednesday is a day of fasting and abstinence from meat. This means Catholics age 14-60 are encouraged to eat only one full meal and two smaller meals, with no snacking in between meals, eliminating meat for the day.

Putting the Power of Film at the Service of the Poor

Tuesday, February 23, 7:00pm

Gerry Straub, former Hollywood TV producer, just back from Haiti, will be speaking at Boll Theatre. He explores how film transforms people's hearts and can be used to serve the poor. His films shed light on poverty and its crushing impact in both human and spiritual dimensions. Gerry fleshes out the Gospel call to care for "the least" in our society through his own conversion story and with powerful clips from his many films.
